JANUARY MEETING RECAP

The I'Anson-Hoffman Inn kicked off the new year at its January meeting at the Hampton Yacht Club on January 13, 2016. It was Pupilage Group IV's turn to educate and amuse the members of the Inn with an engaging sketch involving the aptly-named Auric Digger, a plaintiff in a lawsuit against a cruise ship claiming damages related to his wife's untimely death. Despite Mr. Digger's claims of utter misery, the defense team dug up an undisclosed Facebook page (under a different name) showing Mr. Digger dancing and looking altogether happier than he claimed to be. The story of Mr. Digger prompted lively discussion of social media disclosure obligations and ethical issues related to the same.

TOASTING TORCH

Kevin Duffan passed the toasting torch to Elizabeth Bircher, who will be providing the traditional toast to begin the evening at the February meeting.

UPCOMING PROGRAM

Pupilage Group VI will be presenting at the next meeting at the Norfolk Yacht & Country Club.

Until next issue . . .
