Stephanie Cohen is a Canadian arbitrator of international and domestic disputes based in New York City. She is admitted to practice law in both New York and Ontario, Canada, and is a member of arbitrator rosters for the ICDR and the AAA, as well as a CPR Distinguished Neutral.

Stephanie has practiced exclusively as an arbitrator since 2012, serving as tribunal chair, sole arbitrator, co-arbitrator, and emergency arbitrator in matters governed by the rules of the ICC, ICDR, AAA, UNCITRAL and Society of Maritime Arbitrators. Previously, Stephanie was Counsel in the international arbitration and commercial litigation practice groups at White & Case LLP in New York where she represented clients in complex, high-value disputes before international arbitration tribunals and courts.

Stephanie is active in the arbitration community, including as a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, Vice Chair of its New York Branch, and a member of the ICC Commission. She regularly speaks and writes about international arbitration matters of practical interest and has taken a leading role promoting cybersecurity in international arbitration, including as co-author of the award-winning article, A Call to Cyberarms: The International Arbitrator's Duty to Avoid Digital Intrusion, and as a member of the ICCA-CPR-NYC Bar Association Working Group on Cybersecurity in International Arbitration.
